Important Information You Need to Know About Opening an Investment Management Account

To assist in the fight against the funding of terrorism and money laundering activities, US federal law requires financial institutions to obtain, verify, and record information that identifies each person who opens an account.

When you open an account, MKG is required to collect information from you such as: your name, your date of birth, your address, and your identification number:

U.S. Citizen: taxpayer identification number (social security number or employer identification number)

Non-U.S. Citizen: taxpayer identification number, identification card number or government-issued identification showing nationality, residence, and a photograph of you.

You may also need to show your driver's license or other identifying documents.

A corporation, partnership, trust or other legal entity may need to provide other information, such as its principal place of business, local office, employer identification number, certified articles of incorporation, government-issued business license, a partnership agreement, or a trust agreement.

U.S. Department of the Treasury and SEC rules already require you to provide most of this information. These rules also may require you to provide additional information, such as your net worth, annual income, occupation, employment information, investment experience and objectives, and risk tolerance.

If you are unable to provide the required information, MKG may not be able to open an account or carry out transactions for you. If we have already opened an account for you, we may have to close it.

We thank you for your assistance with these requirements, and hope that you will support the financial industry's efforts to deny terrorists and money launderers access to the financial system.

Business Continuity Summary and Disclosure

Pursuant to SEC and FINRA regulation, MKG has created a Business Continuity Plan. This plan is for use in the event that MKG was to become the subject of a significant business interruption, ranging from an interruption effecting simply our Portland location, or a larger area such as the Northwest or the Pacific Coast. The MKG recovery time for such an event will vary depending upon the severity and significance of the event.

Due to our clearing relationship with Pershing, with its primary location in New Jersey and with back-up facilities in Florida along with our own back-up processes, MKG can continue to operate from several locations. However, we have identified a primary, specific, off site location where MKG operations will move should there be a significant business interruption.

For telephone communications, we will attempt to maintain the ability to contact MKG at 503-226-6700 or 800-760-4933 if at all possible. In the event MKG experiences a significant business disruption ('SBD'), you may contact our clearing firm - Pershing, LLC - directly to process limited trade-related transactions, cash disbursements, and security transfers. Instructions to Pershing must be in writing and transmitted via facsimile at (201) 413-5368 or by USPS to: PERSHING, LLC P.O. Box 2065, Jersey City, NJ 07303. For additional information about how to get funds or securities when MKG cannot be contacted due to a SBD, you can visit Pershing's Customer Support at www.Pershing.com/customer_support or call (201) 413-3635 for recorded instructions.
